

I want to work as a freelancer and open my own tea house, so this website will introduce the traditional culture of Chinese tea. They will contain the introduction of tea products as well as the tea ceremony.

The introduction of the tea house, an environment and atmosphere to the customer. In addition to this, there will be the history of tea, as a cultural output, so that customers understand and have a basic background understanding of tea culture.

The existing tea products in the tea house will have a corresponding introduction, which includes the variety of tea, taste, place of production and so on a series of introductions. Secondly, it will introduce how to drink tea and give customers a breakdown of the steps of daily tea drinking.

The tea ceremony page will list the usage of the tea tools and utensils used, as well as the origin and introduction of the ceremony. At the same time, the tea house will have a tea ceremony observation event, and will put the event time on the website.
